About This Game

Okay, beanface. Take a breath. Close your eyes for a second. You've got a blind date tonight. You've got this! It's gonna be simple: show up, chew your food like a gentleman, laugh, try not to spittle, have a good time, who knows what's gonna happen next.

But.. what if she thinks you're ugly? Or your breath smells, or she figured out about that mole? Or you say something really embarrassing or you dribble something on your shirt? What if the food at the restaurant is too fancy and she laughs at the way you can't pronounce acaí? What if you can't think of anything to talk about? What if everything goes horribly wrong and you end up in a gulag in some foreign country?

Or... what if it goes well, you laugh, share a few drinks?

Life's a constantly evolving, unfolding series of possibilities. You got this. You can do it. And heck, if everything goes sideways, you can always try again...

Pretty good experience. Good game but there are lots of bugs that needs to be fixed. Short story. I r8 8V8 m8. I posted my first play of this game onyoutube, you can find it here - <https://youtu.be/0hSuhU3zDNQ>

On balance, there's the nub of a decent game here. I've learned not to expect too much from steam indie games, they're usually unfinished and buggy. The graphics in this game can be a bit cluster ♥♥♥♥y at times, and you just can't tell when you've picked stuff up or not. It lacks atmosphere, but that could be because it's in Ukrainian.

One thing i noticed is, i watched Jim sterling's play through of the game after i recorded mine and we both ran out of bullets at the same time. we also both left the game feeling "Meh". I hate crapping on indie games, so i'll give it a thumbs up with the proviso that it is worth picking up when it goes to sale.

Huck. Great game at a great price. Knowing there are 5 levels and the first level being so short, I was thinking oh no, going to be a short game. Not quite the case, its not too short, but not too long either. A lot of action and bullets. There are 2 things that annoy me a little though, but this is completely subjective, many like this in a shmup, is slowdown during heavy bullet scenes(but can be disabled in the options, thank you kindly) and the 3 coins per play. But more credits can be unlocked, so keep trying. This a very good title, its a back to basics arcade shmup with a pretty cool scoring system. Three different pilots to choose from, essentially all the same except for different shot patterns. Lots of power ups, giving you massive destructive abilities. 3 button scheme, regular shot, focus shot and bomb. Although it doesnt have it, a story mode would be a welcome addition considering its already got fanservice, but then the price would have been twice as much most likely. I love shmups but dont really follow consoles, but from what I see this is an awesome console port at a very very reasonable price. 8V10

ps. easy to get achievements, just makes it funner.. Crashes at almost every turn, not worth buying until they fix this critical bug!. There's something special about the Star Sky serie. I really like it. But, to my opinion, the second one was better. It's still a very good game you should try.. It was worth the 59 cents I gave for it, it was worth about a dollar in content. Don't do the M mode by the way, just makes the game not fun. Just escape to the map so you can revisit it if you want. If you want numbers, 110 missions are needed to do the ending mission, and I skipped like maybe 5 missions. It's super fun from start to middle, but the end has a mix of fun and just kind of bs really thin lines. Not enough bs missions to stop you from getting to the end, though. It's good. By the way if you find an elevator in a level select, wait until you unlock the bomb to jump up. I spent too long trying to get up without it. Yes there is a mission up there, it's the little floating cube. I got up there once and didn't notice it was a mission so I jumped back down. HORRIBLE mistake.

Very real and creepy feeling. Loved horror films and haunted houses when I was younger. Had to turn it off 5 minutes in, I'm such a wimp.. I made a video review to show off some of the features and gameplay of this game!

3. Right click on it
4. Click on "Delete local content"
